The only charge Danglas men unike against Breeklindeg is that he is the tool of disminonists. They won't call him a disminist, but they say these Southern men are. Well, we ask these Donglas men, what do the people of the south demand? Do they go beyond the Constitution and ask more? We think mut. All the aggression has come from the North. The Republican party has made unjust and unconstitutional demands—the South for the sake of peace has borne till forbearance has almost ceased to be a virtue. The party whileh Mr. Brecklindige represents makes no unreasonable demand—it simply says we are willing to live under the Constitution—to obey the decision of the Supreme Court, and act like law-spliding of the Supreme Court, and act like law-spliding of Mr. Leclere might not have mourned the Spaniard's French departure, had not his wite, a young and pretty woman, or rather girl, to whom he had been wedded about a haif year, and $1.500 in cash disappeared at the same time, as the comfort and colace of his treacherons employee. He ran out on the levee to look for an officer, but before he found one the ship was off on her way down the river. In his distress und blundering haste the nuhappy restanrateur neverthought of applying to the police in the first place, or of telegraphing to the Balize afterward. So the ship, with its guilty pair, is on the sea, bound to llavre. The next day Mr. Leclere got legal advice, and as we understand furnished a deposition of the facts to the French Consul, for transmission to France by steamer to New York, that Garcia may be arrested on arrival and sent back to this country, under the treaty which exists between the two countries, it will interest a shocked and sympathetic community to know that Garcia, in running away with its employer's pretty wife, forgot totake along his own lawful wife and their several children.

Singular Scene in a Juny Room. — The grand jury of Lebanon county, Fa. last week, icurraced a true bill against B. R. Itali, charge i with forgery in attempting to pass a forced check on the Lebanon Bank. The indictment against him for horse stealing was ignored. A singular occurrence took place in the room while the jurers were deliberating on the latt roll. A gentleman appeared before them it regard to the theft, stating, that he would be able to recognize the thier of he could see him. Some member of the grand jury then asked the witness to lock around and state whether the anapereted third was present. He carefully examined every countenance in the room, and swore positively that the horse thief was slifting behind the table, pointing to a respectable member of the jury. The jurers, knowing the high character for integrity sustained by the gentleman pointed out, who is a respectable and estimable citizen of Lubanon, after recovering from their astonishment, at once discharged the witness and ignored the bill against Itali. This singular affair caused considerable amusement among the Jeople of Lebanon, at the expense of the very respectable gentleman who was mistaken for a horse thief.

The True Policy of the Friends of the Union.

We have a high opinion of the personal character and the political integrity of Mr. Lincoin, the Republican candidate for the Presidency, and we feel a sort of kindness for the Republisau party of Indiana from the fact that a large number of our old political friends and associates belong to it, far more, we are sure, than belong to the Democratic party of that State.

If anying the above was from the Journal, we

If, saying the above was from the Journal, w were to slop there, we might make an impres slon calculated to do our neighbor injustice though for such a course we believe we could plead a precedent set by both our eily contempo raries. But we never expect to so far forget what is due ourself and others as to resort to such a method of annoying an opponent or of serving a friend. We do not believe any number of the old Whigs of Kentucky will agree with the Journal, so far as to confess to a "sort of kindness" for the Black Republicans of Indiana or of any other State because those who were formerly with them la opposition to Democrac deserted Whiggery to culist under the black flag of Northern fanaticism, even though such confession be compled, as it is in this case with the expression of a conviction that the defeat of the Lincolnites is "indispensable to the peace and permanence of the country." We cannot conceive how a "sort of kindness" can be entertained for those whose existence is in imical to the safety of the country, and whose success would be destructive of our institutions. Towards all such, it seems to us, but on feeling-that of determined, persistent, unre mitting hostility-can be, or should be held .-

mitting hostility—can be, or should be held.—
To the above surract the Journal adds:

—Yet we are deeply and seiemnly impressed with the conviction that the defeat of the Republican candidate and the Republican party of the mation, in the approaching Presidential election is indispensable to the peace and permanence of the country. The Republican party is a acctional party, it is a party of actiation, and it is nothing else. It desires actiation, for only in agisation it can breathe and move and live. It decade peace, for peace would invoive its dissolution and death. Its Presidential candidate, as we have already liad occasion to say, proclaims to the country that agistation cannot years hence, that it cannot terminate at all white clavery exists, that it must and white clavery exists, that it must and white or the country shall period from the land. And Senator Seward, the leader, the head, the soni, the life. Seward, the leader, the head, the sont, the file, the founder of the party, standing up in the presence of the people of Boston, and speaking for Mr. Lincola, proclaims that Mr. Liconfesses his obligation to that "higher law" which overrides the obligation of all human laws where elavery is concerned, and that he arows himself, for weal or wo, for life or death, a soldier in that irrepressible conflict between freedom and slavery which can cease only when there is no slavery on earth.

This is, indeed, "a fearful portraiture of the principles, the feelings, the designs, the determinations" of the Black Republican party. And however it may be with others, we can never, never feel "a sort of kludness" for the soldiers "in that irrepressible conflet between freedom and slavery which can coase only when there is noslavery on earth." We can never "endure those who war upon our rights, our institutions, our property; but the organ of the Oppposition, knowing full well their fell purposes, and paintworthy of lis genlus, seems almost ready to cap the climar with a hearty "embrace."

We warn the people of Kentucky of the dan ger with which they are threatened. We com mend the Journal's pisture of Black Republicausm and of Black Republicans to the Opposition of this state. We tell them that it in their bosoms for these destructives. They are enemies of Kentucky, of the slave States, of the people of the South, of the Constitution of the country, and of the peace and happiness of the nation-they should be treated as foes-they should be met with a bold and resolute defiance they must be told "thus far shalt thon go, and no farther." It is the part of honor, of safety, of patriotism thins to meet the soldiers of this hellish crusade, this infamous and unholy war. No mistaken concessions, no mawkish sympathy, no unreciprocated kindness, no weakness or wavering will change their purposes or retard their movements. Standing apon the Constitution, standing upon the equality of the States, etanding upon our honor and our manhood, standing upon the justice of our cause, we must discard all "aets of kindness" until the army of aggression is disbanded—then we may bind up the bruises and ponr oil on the wounds of those who fell in the conflict.

We invite attention to the Journal's "fearful portraiture" of the ends and sims of Black Reblicanism. Read it, men of Kentneky! read t, members of the Union party! read it, everyody, and say whether we shall best protect ourselves by Ignoring all their purposes, and plots, and plans, as the Bell platform does; or by meeting them half-way as the Douglasites pro pose; or by firmly, frankly, fearlessly, and determinedly encountering them as the Demo-eratic party does. Under the black flag of the enemy, were arrayed, In, 1856, one million, three ndred and forty-one thousand, five hundred and fourteen men' No sane man believes, and no honest man will assert, that their numbers have decreased since then. That number of men then, at least, are now united logether in a cause in which their success, the Journal admits, le inevitable destruction to the "peace and permanence of the country." With that enem front, le li patriotic to profess kinducs for those in arms against us-to Ignore the principles and measures they advocate-to yield our strong positions—to preach a wavering, halting, hesitating policy? What would be thought of the general who would thus defend his country against a formidable, well-drilled, determined foe? Would he not be stigmatized as a trailor or branded as a coward?

Opposed to this party is that of the National Democracy, under the lead of BRECKINKIDGE and LANE. The contest is between them. Our or the other will succeed in the great struggic. He is no enemy to the piratical fanaticism which threatens to engulf all we hold dear, who not only refuses to aid in the election of BRECKIN-RIDGE, but strives, by false charges, and ig an attacks, and all the aris of political demagognery to excite prejudice against him beat blm. I'e who is us is against us. He who refuses to enlist against Black Republicanism is no friend to his country. People of the Sonth! patriots of the whole country! friends of the Consiltution and of the Union! choose ye, this day, which ye will have! Neither Bell nor Douglas is lu this fight. Neither of them is certain of one State. Nelther has any hopes of success. Face to face, in determined, deadly conflict, are arrayed the National Democracy and the service and sof Abolitionism. MANTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 25, 1840.
Gov. J. Inson is respectfully requested by the undersigned, to reply in his address, to tught, to the following questions:
1st. What course do you advise the South to pursue, in case Lincoln shall be elected?
2d. If you advise acquiescence in that event, would you accept office under that administration, or advise any friend to accept office under it?

Respectfully, WM. II. RIVES.
The only silusion made by Gov. Johnson, bearing upon the above questions, was toward the close of his speech, in response to a question put to him by some one in the crowd, "What will you Johnson] do if Lincoln is selected?" He answered, "I will holdly and valiantly charge it on the Breckinridge Democracy." Now, we put to all candid and patriotic men, if that isn't an evasion of the question, utterly unworthy of any man aspiring to the position of Vice President? In the list place, he did not answer at all the grava questions submitted to him in the most respectful manner, by Dr. Rives, one of our most respectful manner, by Dr. Rives, one of our most respectable and affluential citizens. And, finally, when he is forced to say something in answer in the pointed question, forced upon the attention of the audience, he cutirely dodges the issue, and gives an answer, of which the veriest sump politician should be assumed. INRIDGE and the Democratic party first see the light, and from which they are transcreed to the organs of the two wings of the opposition t Kentucky and elsewhere. The Enquirer has ing said that two men are engaged in getting up these dispatches, the Commercial says:

And we night as well mention, in this connection, that we have been informed, reliably, we believe that one of the Clevelands is the same individual who specially telegraphs "Black Republicanism" to the lizzette. The same fellow not unfrequently sends two flaming dispatches on the same day—one to the Enquirer, and the other to the trazette—one a Douglas hosanna and the other a line on anthem.

After an experience of one year in putting tion of Mr. Fremont. On the 20th of September, in that year, with Hon. Horace Maynard, the addressed the citizens of Eutherford county, everything size as a base for Artificial Teeth. When they introduced it in Louisville they advertised it as follows: That it was one half lighter than metal, more is the following report of Mr. Polk's speech.—
He is now supporting Doublas:
At the late hour at which we write we shall not uttempt to recapitulate the points underly either of the speakers. Col. Polk wound ny, we will observe, however, by scattering a few recession seeds among the audience, with a view to a future harvest, in certain contingencies.—
He stated boidly that in the event of Fremon'ts election, he was opposed to, and would regret to see the assembling of another American Congress? He chaborated this idea to some extent, talking buncombe very much after the fashion, as we shought, of certain orators of Nashville Convention notorlety. It was not a little remarkable that the only Indication of a shout clicited during Col. Polk's whole opening speech arose at this point, though we were well pleased to see that it was very faint. cleanly, and that they were more certain of getting a perfect at of the mouth. They now go further, and say that it is much stronger than sets on metal, and less liable to be Injured by accident, while the low price brings it within the reach of all. Believing that their clouts to give the best work at small profits will be appreciated, they have determined on a reduction of their prices. To substantiate the above the piedge themselves to replace with gold, without ex-tracharge, any set on Vulcanite that falls in any one particular as set forth above. A Hannied House — Musical Ghost —
Strange Experiences.

Just this side of the bridge over Smith's Branch, in the lower part of the city, is usuall, old, unoccupied house. We should not say unceenpied—but not occupied by human beings. But it seems that spirits of the other world are abroad, and we are informed their they appear to have taken up their abode temporarily in this little shell. Dur informant is a man who say helives down in that neighborhood. He states that, besides himself, the substance of the story he gave us is known to at least two or three he gave us is known to at least two or livre other persons.

About a week ago, passing there late at night —after midnight, in fact—our informant was startled by a searnd much likethat of a violin, played very lightly and slowly. He stopped a most ent, when the time became mure lively, and continued for about two minutes. He thinks it might have been heard perhaps for rought rods—not more. As soon as it ceased, he went up to the house and booked in. All was silent, and no human being was to be seen. At first he saw nothing—then in one corner gradually grew the dim on thine of a female face with lone hair hanging around it. He owns that he was frightened, and cannot exactly tell what occurred during the next moment. He has a faint recollection of running as last as his legs could carry him—of hearing his nume called two or three times in a strangely musical but uncarthy voice—and there his knowledge of events coases.

(In Mondor, night last he resolved to test the ostage stamps of the denomination of ninely cents, says.

The nurry-cent peetage siamps so anxiously looked for lay our merchants, have been forwarded by the department, and are now for sale at the postolike. The center of the stamp has a representation of Washington, taken from a purisit executed at the time whom he resigned the command of the army, and differs materially from all other likenesses of him. The color of the ground is blue, presenting anything but a handsome appearance. As these stamps are to be allixed to foreign betters only, we may suppose that they will not clicit a very high encounting upon our style of engraving. The stamps now in use are of the following denomination: one, three, five, ten, twelve, twe aty-lour, thirty and meety conts. The amounts that are gone rally paid on foreign letters not covered by the above, are—filteen, twenty-serve and fifty four cents, for which a rombination of the stamps now supplied will suffice.
